

October 17, 2012

Subject: Manufacture in Mexico, Supply to the World- Conference
Reference: Workshop Agenda

Dear Supplier:

It has come to our attention that American Industries is hosting a one-day event in Chicago on November 15th that is intended to educate aerospace companies on how to do business in Mexico. Several of our suppliers have successfully set up factories in Mexico because of the numerous advantages that Mexico offers to aerospace suppliers. Boeing will be sending several people to this event, and we wanted to inform our supply base of this opportunity. This conference will cover a range of topics related to manufacturing and doing business in Mexico and will have speakers from various companies who have successfully moved business into Mexico. We have attached some conference materials and the agenda for your convenience.

American Industries has advised us that they will waive the registration fees for our Boeing suppliers. To RSVP please contact Myrna De Las Casas of American Industries at 1-877-698-3905, by email at mcasas@aiig.com, or at their website www.mfginmexicoworkshop.com for registration details. Alberto Villareal, the vice president for sales for American Industries, is also available if you have further questions on the event at AVillarreal@aiig.com.

We hope to see you there!

Sincerely,

Patrick C McKenna
Director of Supply Chain Strategy
Supplier Management
Boeing Commercial Airplanes